Both luxurious and functional, this four-bedroom home itself is spacious, light and airy. Its design maximizes the stunning position high on a hill, providing the benefit of cool afternoon breezes and natural air flow.

The kitchen is ideal for whipping up feasts to share with guests, featuring stainless steel appliances, walk-in pantry, servery out to the deck and views overlooking the bush. It opens onto an open-plan space incorporating the dining and family rooms, but film buffs or the family as a whole can enjoy watching the latest blockbuster in the separate, fully closed-off media room providing the ability to easily keep adults and children entertained in separate parts of the house.

All bedrooms have built-in robes and there's also a study nook, which is handy for students or small business
